

Pillow Type Packing Machine DXDZ-400D

To package your product hygienically, fast and attractively? You can achieve this with your own flowpack machine. Especially in the food industry such a machine comes in handy, and often it is the most cost-effective solution when you are dealing with non-food.

Horizontal machines create a tailor-made package around the product and sealed from three sides. They are designed to pack a wide range of articles and can be easily put in line with weighing and labeling systems as well as other equipments. Machines are available in several versions facing needs and requests from many different industries (food, non-food, pharmaceutical).
